

Christ Is the Superior Sacrifice

In Hebrews 10:1-18, we are reminded that the sacrifices of the Old Law were never meant to be the final answer for sin. They pointed forward to something greater. Year after year, those offerings served as a reminder that sin had not been fully removed. But when Jesus came into the world, He came to do the will of the Father and to offer Himself as the perfect sacrifice. Unlike the repeated sacrifices of the past, Christ gave Himself once for all, accomplishing what the blood of bulls and goats could never do.

This truth should fill our hearts with gratitude, confidence, and obedience. Because of Jesus, forgiveness is available, sanctification is possible, and our sins can be remembered no more. His sacrifice was complete, sufficient, and final. As we live this week, may we reject any trust in our own works and rest fully in the finished work of Christ. Let us draw near to God with faith, rejoice in His mercy, and remain committed to the New Covenant that gives us true hope and lasting peace.

By: Michael Dale